Poland Wants Million Jews To Leave Nation

ASKS SHARE OF $15,000,000 DRIVE FUND

WARSAW (Spl.)—The warning issued by American Jewish leaders that other nations would follow Germany's lead if Jews were ransomed from the Nazis has met with an unexpected fulfillment, as the Polish Government discussed in public senate session the possibility of mass emigration of Jews from Poland.

"If Germany has by anti-Semitism obtained a high quota of certificates to Palestine," Prince Janusz Radziwill, president of the National-Conservative bloc, declared, "the Polish anti-Semites wish to follow Germany's example."

Replying to addresses by the Prince, the Minister of Interior, Ladislaw Raczewicz, asserted that the Government looks with great favor upon an increase in migration of Jews from Poland.

The question does not "lie within the competence of the Polish Government," but demands international action he stated.

Parliament circles were stirred by the demands of the prominent senator that Britain increase the quota of Palestine immigration certificates for Polish Jews.

Addressing the senate budget committee the Prince demanded that the Government start diplomatic negotiations with Britain for Palestine certificates and approach American and British organizations to expatriating Polish Jews.

Senator Wostworowski indicated he thought 1,000,000 of the more than 3,000,000 Jews should emigrate. While condemning anti-Semitic excesses, he asserted that there are no prospects for amelioration of the Jews' plight because "the economic development of Poland tends toward the ousting of Jews from employment."

He declared that perhaps a territory other than Palestine could be found for settling Jews which was "less dependent on the caprices of English politics." England holds the League of Nations Mandate for Palestine.

He stated: "It is necessary to solve the Jewish problem according to Isaac Gruenbaum, who has said that Poland has a million Jews too many." (Gruenbaum is head of the labor department of the Jewish Agency for Palestine's Executive.)

The statements before the budget committee climaxed rumors that Poland was considering emigration of Jews. Berlin reports (Continued on Page 4)

Liked Best With Dunn

HOLLYWOOD, Cal. (Spl.)

—Separated, Sally Eilers, observant Jewish film queen, and Jimmy Dunn, likeable male lead, proved to be just ordinary actors, if box office returns are any indication.

Consequently, orders were issued to cast the pair together once more. Moviegoers hailed the return of the two to the same picture, and their newest effort, now on Broadway, is packing them in to the familiar old clink-tune.

Satisfied now that the public wants to see the pair together, the studio is searching for a new vehicle for them. Miss Eilers played in Eddie Cantor's "Strike Me Pink," while she and Dunn were separated.

BRADLEY, Mich. (Spl.)—

Although she is 109 years old, and has lived here for 104 years, Mrs. Sarah Isaac, reported to be the oldest person in the United States, received her first pension check from the state of Michigan last week.

Photographers were on hand when Mrs. Isaac was given her check by Dr. Philip A. Callahan, chief of the Michigan old-age assistance bureau, while she continued to cook dinner despite the visitors. Mrs. Isaac said she expected to receive many more checks from the state in years to come.

PARIS (Spl.)—Leon Blum,

65-year-old French Socialist leader, is expected to return to his seat in the Chambers in the next few days, it was announced at his home here where he is recovering from injuries suffered in an attack on his life by French Royalists.

Returning home from a lecture, Blum was mobbed by a group of Royalists who accused him of effecting the government order to dissolve the Action Francaise Royalist order. Blum was beaten, knocked to the ground, and kicked before police could effect his rescue.

Blum, head of the growing Socialist Party, is revered by all France for his fairness and calmness.

At Chapel Hill, framed on a hill-top in the Piedmont section of the Old North State, is situated a seat of learning whose cultural contributions and educational standards have given the institution, the University of North Carolina, its high place in the university and artistic world. To the well-rounded, cloistered life of the school, Theodore Weil, of Goldsboro, N. C., a Jewish member of the Board of Trustees, who is honored throughout the State, annually contributes the Weil Lectures which furnish to the campus speakers whose messages would otherwise be unobtainable. Ben Cone, one of the famous cotton-milling family of that name, is a long-standing member of the Athletic Council. In the years from 1926 to 1935, Harry Schwartz has guided the destinies of the football team; Artie Marpet has captained the basketball squad; Sam Giddings has led the boxers, and Walter Levitan directed the tennis team, not to mention a long honor roll of Jewish athletes including Bernie Scher, Robert Kushner, "Punchy" Levinson, Ed Kahn, Dave Nieman, Norman Bloch, and a host of others.

When two years ago U. S. Jewry was startled by the exposure of a clausus in the medical school at the University, famed President Frank Graham, acting with the decisive suddenness which has made him a giant in the liberal world, denounced the practice, ousted the dean. More recently Dr. Rosenau, Jewish physician on the Harvard faculty, was named to head the University's division of Public Health.

And thus has this kindness been repaid.

In investigating the recent violation of the esteemed honor code, it was found that included among the ringleaders were a large group of students from Jewish homes in New York.

Quota Allotment Proves West Ignored

As if in answer to this paper's contention that Jewry outside of New York has been made the unwilling victim of an inherited system of taxation without representation, the planning group for the Joint Distribution Committee's $3,500,000 campaign at its meeting Sunday released quotas for twelve cities for the 1936 drive which prove almost conclusively that a substantial part of the leadership of U. S. Jewry should long have passed away from the Atlantic Seaboard.

Led by New York these twelve cities stretched across the country are asked to contribute $3,050,000 of the total for the drive.

The complete figures are enlightening:

Jewish Population	City	Quota
1,765,000	New York	$1,500,000
302,164	Chicago	350,000
247,000	Philadelphia	250,000
85,000	Boston	125,000
85,000	Cleveland	125,000
71,263	Detroit	125,000
68,000	Baltimore	125,000
65,000	Los Angeles	100,000
50,000	St. Louis	90,000
45,000	Pittsburgh	85,000
38,000	San Francisco	100,000
23,500	Cincinnati	75,000

New York City where, until the very recent present, all leadership of the nation was vested, is being asked to donate approximately $0.85 per capita to the only U. S. fund which does actual relief work in Germany. No other city in the nation has been so slandered. Philadelphia's $1.01 per capita is the next smallest per capita request, with Cincinnati, located west of the Appalachian Mountains, being called on for $3.19 for each Jewish man, woman, and child.

Nor are these figures peculiar in the respect of heavy allotments for that great body of U. S. Jews, long ignored in respect to leadership, but uncomplainingly contributing far more than its share of tithes. Every drive for funds, for these many years, has placed the heaviest burden on the fewest people. But no national committee, until the J. D. C.'s recent appointment of its planning and scope group, has ever felt it necessary to allow representatives of the neglected 1,500,000 Jews west of the Appalachians to take part in its leadership.

No complaint has been made, and none probably would ever be made. But if the real Jewish accomplishments and real Jewish achievements, as for instance B'nai B'rith, Hebrew Union College, The Detroit Group Plan, and many others, are bred of the Western Jews' sound perspective of the American scene, then U. S. Jewry is overlooking a great store of leaders when it refuses to grant equal representation to the Jewish communities from California to Ohio and from Wisconsin to Texas.

Outlawing Gambling By Congregations

An insidious evil which has stealthily crept its way into congregational activities in too many synagogues throughout the nation has finally called down upon itself the courageous denunciation of the Chicago Rabbinical Association.

It is the condoned gambling, permitted by the rabbi, and excused on the ground that the receipts are devoted to good causes.

Led by fearless Rabbi Solomon Goldman, who was often berated for his stand, the Chicago group passed the following resolution:

"In view of the un-Jewish and unethical character of gambling, and of its demoralizing effect upon individuals and institutions, and zealous for the good name and honor of the Jewish community, the Rabbinical Association denounces the practice of raising funds for congregations and other Jewish organizations by means of various forms of gambling, and requests congregations and their constituent bodies to refrain from these means of obtaining funds to meet their financial obligations."

That there can be no sacredness attached to any institution which allows its ideals to be polluted by a vice which is frowned on both by American law and Jewish ethics is realized by every rabbi who has spinelessly approved bingo and other games of chance, regardless of the purpose to which the "take" was to be applied. When these rabbis, called the leaders but who are actually the led, failed to castigate and outlaw this obvious evil, they epitomized the motivation behind the movement admittedly now in evolution in every community whereby the reins of leadership are passing from the hands of the clergy to the laymen.

Would a synagogue condone stealing by its members if the proceeds were devoted to a charitable cause?

Undoubtedly the condemnation by the Chicago Association will end gambling in that city's congregations. Whether their action will start a movement that will be nation-wide will test the fearlessness and integrity of rabbis in other

Wants Help In Exposing Alleged Graft

Dear Mr Markun:

I have been advised by several people to get in touch with you in a matter which I am trying to bring to the attention of the proper officials and as a matter of importance in my mind to expose an individual whom I have known for several years.

This man whom I speak of is new and has been quite a power in the ———— and I know for a fact that this man is nothing but a fraud, and a greater crook never has existed; everything that this man has ever entered upon has always been a scheme to defraud and embezzle others; he has worked any number of rackets on the public in this city and elsewhere; he has embezzled people with checks, and knows every trick in this racket and right now is trying to work a racket through the of which he is the power. This will be nothing more or less than a colossal scheme to obtain funds for his own gain and profit.

I have in my possession newspaper articles which were published by the Uj Elere Inc., 11424 Buckeye Road, Cleveland, Ohio, a Hungarian newspaper of which Mr. E. Gardos is the editor. These articles are as follows: the first one shows an article with a Hungarian Government warrant for the arrest of this man as a forger and embezzler, who was wanted in 1909 and ran away from Hungary and came here, the second article shows how in 1932 when he had gone back on a visit to Hungary the first time he ever went back since the warrant was issued, and since outlawed, he defrauded a woman.

And now this man is trying to put something over in the way with ———— and from what I understand there is an investigation going on in reference to several other men connected with this same organization. Should you care to get in touch with the editor of this paper who had published these articles I feel quite sure he will co-operate with you to the fullest extent to further expose this man and to bring these matters to the attention of the proper officials either of the city or state and even the federal officials who should know of this man and his underhanded work and to all necessary Jewish organizations who are trying to raise funds for a worthy cause and have this man stopped before it is too late and the effects it will have on the Jewish people throughout the world.

I trust that I may hear from you and that you will help me in this matter as you possibly can so that I may be able to have this man exposed so that he cannot continue such activities and until the proper officials will put this man where he belongs, this man's name is

Thanking you for any efforts you will show in helping me in this matter or any advice that you can give me will be greatly appreciated.

P. K.

New York, N. Y.
Dear P. K.:

I have already dispatched the information you have given me to the proper officials. I am glad you have written to me, because I believe the matter should be handled so as to avoid any unnecessary publicity. Naturally I will keep you informed of developments.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Believes Two Jewish Movies, of Palestine and Biro-Bidjan, Should Be Shown Throughout Nation
To the Editor:

Two Jewish talkies were recently received in the United States, one from the land of the Soviets, which is called "Biro-Bidjan"; the other is from Palestine, and is called "The Land of Promise."

"Biro-Bidjan" is a stirring epic of Jewish pioneering in building their autonomous territory in the Far East. It portrays, stage by stage, the transformation of the Taiga Wilderness in the Amur region into a rich and fertile land where the Jews enjoy the well-earned fruits of their labor, and where they build a permanent Jewish autonomous republic.

In the days of old Russia, Jews (with rare exception) had no right to acquire land. The great majority of them were compelled to live in congested towns, where most of them were petty tradesmen and small artisans. After the Revolution they were given the same opportunity as the other nationalities to work in all industries. Since 1928, the Soviet government has assigned a large tract of virgin but fertile land in the Far East called Biro-Bidjan, for the purpose of settling these Jewish families who did not as yet adapt themselves to the new modes of life to build there an autonomous republic.

This picture, "Biro-Bidjan," shows how these Jewish pioneers succeeded, through hard labor and persistent efforts, in building a new land, and it shows the great achievement accomplished during recent years.

The second talkie, "The Land of Promise," portrays the courage and heroism of the Jewish pioneers, who reclaimed their one-time homeland from the ruins and barren wastes of the past. It shows that Palestine's development in the past ten years has transformed the country into an amazing center of Jewish creative effort that rivals almost any other country in the world for its social and economic achievements.

Special interest centers about the presentation of this Palestinian talkie because it brings to the screen for the first time the dramatic story of the settlement of the more than 30,000 German Jewish exiles and refugees on the soil of Palestine. How these men, women and children, feeling the terror of Nazi Germany, came to their homeland; how the doctors, lawyers and college professors turned to the plow, hoe and shovel to conquer the arid desert wastes; how they built their own homes; how the women came to the side of the men to work on an equal footing with them, is portrayed there with all the power and understanding that so heroic a human drama demands.

An unusual feature of the "Land of Promise" is its score of original music composed by Boris Morros, head of Paramount's music department and based upon authentic folk themes, characteristic of the new culture of the reborn land. It also contains a performance of Haydn's Oratorio in the natural setting of Mount Scopus in Jerusalem in the language of the Bible. Modern dances of the pioneers, symbolic of the new life on the soil, are strikingly contrasted with the old and classic Oriental dance form.

In short, every phase of the reconstruction of Palestine is portrayed there with clarity and striking vigor—the development of the Emek (valley), the amazing growth of the city of Tel Aviv and its modern tempo, the progress in industry, the impressive scenes of the Levant Fair, the courage and idealism of the pioneers, the education of the children, the arrival of new immigrants, the inspiring role of the young women, the development of the Dead Sea—all these elements are woven into an unforgettable record of Zionist achievement in Eretz Israel, the Holy Land!

May I suggest that local Jewish organizations bring these talkies to Louisville and other cities in order that Jews and non-Jews have the opportunity of seeing with their own eyes what the Jews can create, even in the wilderness. And seeing is believing!

Withhold Reprisals In Frankfurter Deed

BERLIN (JTA) — The special conference of Nazi leaders called to map reprisals against the German Jews for David Frankfurter's assassination of Wilhelm Gustloff, Swiss Nazi leader, opened last week in Munich.

Mystery surrounded the parley and details were not available, but it was understood on the basis of reliable information that the Swiss Government's ban on Nazi organizations has caused hotheads among the Nazis to moderate their demands for extreme measures against the Jews.

The Nazi leaders are highly interested in Nazi activities abroad, it was understood, and believe it advisable to refrain from actions which might arouse anti-Nazi sentiment abroad that might give rise to movements for suppressing Nazi activities.

HOLLYWOOD—The "music goes 'round and 'round and comes out on the sound track.... We ask neither how nor why. Of all the pot-pourri of picture production—the stars, writers, directors, producers—we seldom give a thought to the man who seasons the picture porridge, the musical director.

In this field we note with pride the outstanding contribution of Our Brethren . . . they wield the orchestral baton for every major studio. They lead the orchestras, delve in music of every type and period, sometimes, compose original parts, sometimes enlist other composers, weld the result into one flowing harmonious synchronization.

Leo Forbstein, Warner's tone potentate, performs the herculean task of scoring fifty-five to sixty important film productions every year, a record unequalled by any other director. He's a St. Louis product . . . was educated there . . . played as violinist in the local symphony . . . came to the west coast a number of years ago to act as musical arranger for Sid Grauman then manager of the Million Dollar Theatre. From that to work at the studio was a simple and logical step.

At Paramount, Boris Morros rules the sharps and flats. He was born in Alexandrovsk, Russia . . . was graduated from the Imperial Conservatory at St. Petersburg . . . became director of the Imperial Opera . . . was the originator of the Chauve Souris Company.

At the musical helm for R.K.O. is Max Steiner, descendant of a well-known theatrical family in Vienna. His father, a famous producer, sent him to the Imperial Academy of Music for an eight-year course. He completed it in one year. At 13 he wrote a musical comedy . . . at 16 he conducted an orchestra at Moscow . . . followed that with ten years of orchestrating for a London Theatre. Arrived in America during the war . . . almost starved until Abe Erlanger gave him a chance with a musical show . . . thereafter work was plentiful.

The head of polyphonics at United Artists is Alfred Newman, who began his study of piano at the age of seven . . . played Beethoven's Waldstein Sonata in public at eight . . . studied under Goldmark, Busoni, Stokowski, Paderewski . . . began conducting at 16 . . . was musical director for many Broadway productions, including all the Gershwin shows.

Nat Finston, M.G.M.'s music master, was a New Yorker . . . was graduated from City College . . . then pursued a musical career . . . played with the Russian Symphony orchestra, the New York Symphony, the New York Philharmonic.

At Universal Franz Waxman scores and conducts. He was born in Germany . . . studied at the Berlin and Dresden conservatories . . . directed many foreign film musicals in Paris, Vienna, and in Berlin.

SURVEY BY FORTUNE TO BE PUBLISHED AS BOOK

To Be Ready On April 13

NEW YORK (Spl.)—Completion of arrangements for the publication in book form of "Jews in America," survey of Jewish influence in the U. S. which appeared in the February issue of Fortune magazine, has been announced here by Smith & Haas, publishers, following a meeting with the editors of the magazine.

Surprised by the interest shown by both Jews and non-Jews in the article, the editors decided to publish the survey as soon as possible. April 13 was announced as the tentative date for the appearance of the book.

With U. S. Jewry unanimously in agreement on the beneficial effect of widespread reading of the book, Jewish leaders here hailed the announcement of Smith & Haas. Some disagreed with the conclusions drawn by the writer of the article, but all felt that the survey was factual and impressive.

The book will appear under the imprint of Random House.

5 Jews Drop Out But 19

Gentiles Stay In Rabbi's Class
SAN BERNARDINO, Cal. (Spl.)—Nineteen of the twenty-four persons who enrolled four months ago in Rabbi Jacob M. Alkow's Hebrew class, have never missed a session, which is something of a record, but when the fact that all nineteen are Gentile is taken into consideration, the statement is almost unbelievable.

When Rabbi Alkow, spiritual leader of Temple Emanu El here first announced the class, five Jewish persons attended, but one by one their interest lagged and they dropped out. Rabbi Alkow plans to continue the class as long as his Gentile pupils care to attend.

Gambling In Shuls Hit

CHICAGO (Spl.)—The long fight of Rabbi Solomon Goldman, of Congregation Anshe Emet, against gambling by Jewish organizations, has ended with the passing of a resolution by the Chicago Rabbinical Association denouncing the evil.

Terming gambling un-Jewish and unethical, the resolution requested congregations and their constituent bodies to refrain from these means of obtaining funds to meet their financial obligations.

"In view of the un-Jewish and unethical character of gambling," the resolution declared, "and of its demoralizing effect upon individuals and institutions, and zealous for the good name and honor of the Jewish community, the Rabbinical Association denounces the practice of raising funds for congregations and other Jewish organizations by means of various forms of gambling, and requests congregations and their constituent bodies to refrain from these means of obtaining funds to meet their financial obligations."

Following the first announcement, the Federation of Synagogues endorsed the resolution.

German Magazine Lampoons

Hitler: Eight Are Jailed
FRANKFUR-AM-MAIN (Spl.)—For a week Hitler was lampooned in a caricature on the front page of the Heddenheim Carnival Journal right in Germany, until Storm Troopers caught on. And then eight persons were jailed for insulting the Fuehrer, and all copies of the journal confiscated.

Heddenheim has an old carnival tradition, and on the front page of its Carnival journal two fools were portrayed, one with a suspiciously familiar mustache and a drooping lock associated with Hitler. The second fool looked Jewish. The carnival has been stopped and all dances and parties prohibited for two days.

Drive For Exodus Out

CINCINNATI, O. (Spl.)—Stating that it would not be necessary to saddle an additional drive on American Jewry, the Joint Distribution Committee meeting with its planning and scope committee for its $3,500,000 drive declared that the U. S. share of the $15,000,000 funds for the mass exodus plan "should be provided as part of the programs of existing organizations in the United States."

This move came as startling news to Jewish leaders who had anticipated that a separate drive would be organized for $10,000,000 over a 4-year period.

At the same time quotas for twelve cities, making up almost the entire goal, were released. New York City, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Baltimore, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, San Francisco and Cincinnati have been asked to contribute $3,050,000.
